Various NLS models for laser filamentations

David Lannes *

David.Lannes@ens.fr

WEB: http://www.dma.ens.fr/~lannes/

This talk is devoted to the derivation of several variants of the focusing NLS equation from Maxwell's equations. These variants include physical effects neglected by the standard cubic model: improved dispersion, vectorial effects, off axis dependance of the group velocity, self-steepening, ionization, short pulse equation, etc. We will show how to justify these models and comment on their mathematical properties.

* Département de mathématiques appliquées (UMR 8553), École Normale Supérieure, 45, rue d’Ulm, 75005 Paris, FRANCE.