

« CHAIRE ANDRÉ AISENSTADT 2009 — UNE SÉRIE DE CONFÉRENCES »
14–18 SEPTEMBRE 2009

“ANDRÉ AISENSTADT CHAIR 2009 — A SERIES OF LECTURES”
SEPTEMBER 14–18, 2009

Redundant dictionaries, geometry and pursuit algorithms

STÉPHANE MALLAT

CMAP
École Polytechnique
91128 Palaiseau Cedex
FRANCE

`stephane.mallat@polytechnique.fr`

For complex signals, more efficient representations are obtained by decomposing signals over vectors selected from redundant dictionary of vectors. This is particular true when signals include geometric structures, in space for images or in time-frequency for audio signals or EEG. Matching pursuit and L1 basis pursuit algorithms are introduced to compute sparse representations in redundant dictionaries.