

The Meteorological Institute of Hamburg (MI)

Math 2013

The Meteorological Institute of the University of Hamburg plans to organize a summer school and/or workshop(s) in preparation of the Program "Mathematics for fluid Earth" that will take place at the Isaac Newton Institute in October-December 2013.

It also plans to organize a workshop on climate models of intermediate complexity.

Other activities may also be organized later.

Contact

Valerio Lucarini
valerio.lucarini@zmaw.de